

characteristics was her generous disposition, receiving the greatest of pleasure in making other happy. During her residence here, she has gathered many true friends around her, who will revere her memory and sincerely sympathize with the husband and relatives in their bereavement.