

DOCKENDORFF, W.O.
1843-1924

W.O. Dockendorff died this morning from the Wheatland Hospital from the combined effects of old age and an operation for the removal of gall stones. Mr. Dockendorff came last spring in New Hampshire, to visit at the home of his son-in-law, George S. Martin, before becoming acutely ill after coming here. He rallied for awhile after the operation, but the disease had progress too far.