

NEWKIRK, JOHN
1863-November 6, 1918

John Newkirk, whose home was about 40 miles from Wheatland, was buried in the city cemetery last Monday, the second victim of the "flu" in the same family. His son Elmer was buried the week previous. The entire family has been ill with pneumonia and some are still in a critical condition.