

OLMSTEAD, MABLE C.
May 9, 1886-January 30, 1947

Mable C. Olmstead, wife of John H. Olmstead, died at the Wheatland hospital January 30 of injuries from an automobile accident occurring two days before.

Mrs. Olmstead was born May 9, 1886 in New York City and had been a resident of Chugwater for the past three years.

Surviving are her husband and four sons, Edward M. Leonard of Chugwater, James Leonard of Burbank, Calif., Ray Elmore of New York, Clifford Elmore of Poughkeepsie, New York, three daughters, Mrs. Mary Spellman of New York, Mrs. Betty Otto of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Helen Elmore of Bingentown, New York, one step-son, John J. Olmstead of Slater, four stepdaughters, Mrs. Myrtle Johnke of Chugwater, Mrs. Frank Harkness of Acme, Wash., Mrs. Edith Harkness of Acme, Wash., and Mrs. Mabel Mitchell of Sioux City, Iowa, and one grandchild.

Services were held Wednesday at 2 p.m. in the Schrader Chapel, Rev. W.W. Maxwell officiating.

Burial was in the Wheatland cemetery and pallbearers were: Fred Cashner, Tom Tarpley, Wendall Hedges, Ted Buller, Lee Snyder and Carl Good.